BRAND GUIDE · OCTOBER 2026

Afterglow

One fragrance told in four stages, from the gold of last light to deep violet.

The four stages

One ramp, lightness falling and chroma flat at 0.110 throughout. The stages are the whole palette; everything else is a neutral.

Contrast, measured

Every ratio below is computed from the token, not estimated. The body floor is 4.5:1 and the large-text floor is 3:1.

Neutrals and surfaces

Six locked tokens. The ground is required by the deepening-light rule rather than borrowed, and elevation is carried by the two surface steps.

Two faces, one scale

Both faces are in Shopify's library, so neither ships as a webfont. The scale is a ratio of 1.25 from a 16 px base, every step derived.

An 8 px base and whole multiples of it. Eight divides the 16 px type base, so space and text sit on one grid rather than two that nearly agree.

The rule that can be checked

The brand's central idea is a sentence about mood that nobody can act on. This is its usable form.

THE INTERACTION RULE

No state change brightens.

Hover, focus and active deepen or shift hue, and never lighten. Nothing fades up to a brighter value. That is checkable in a diff, which is why it is written this way and not as a sentence about mood.

NEVER

Stage 3 or stage 4 as a letterform. Both fail every text floor on the void.

NEVER

Stage 3 or stage 4 on a surface step. Both fall further there than on the void, to 1.88:1 and 1.00:1.

NEVER

Muted on a stage colour. It fails on all four.

ALWAYS

Stage 1 for a mark, a rule or an accent on the void, at 9.97:1.

Applied

The same tokens on the three things the storefront is mostly made of. Full voice and tone live in voice-tone.md.
